

Premodern Antiracist Pedagogy Workshop

The Rutgers Medieval-Renaissance Colloquium invites you to an open conversation concerning the intersection of antiracist pedagogy and the teaching of premodern texts. Our distinguished speakers will share their insights into current theoretical and research trends, their meditations on race and the academy, as well as their experiences as active educators in the premodern classroom, to be followed by a Q+A session and dialogue with the members of the audience.

Moderator

Prof. Erica Edwards (Rutgers -New Brunswick)

Panelists

Prof. Patricia Akhimie (Rutgers - Newark)

Prof. Reginald Wilburn (University of New Hampshire)

Prof. Ian Smith (Lafayette College)

Thursday, March 10th, 1:00-2:30pm

CCA Rm 6051

Our Sponsors

Early Modern Research Group | Rutgers Graduate Student Association | Rutgers Center for Cultural Analysis
Rutgers British Studies Center | The English Department | The History Department
African American and African Diaspora Interest Group | Rutgers Institute for the Study of Global Racial Justice
Committee for Bias Awareness and Prevention

Prof. Emily Bartels