UNIVERSITY | CAMDEN

Division of Diversity, Inclusion, and Civic Engagement

The Rutgers University-Camden DICE Master Class series is a social and cultural capacity building education initiative led by renowned experts in the subject of diversity, equity and inclusion.

Rutgers University-Camden Division of Diversity, Inclusion and Civic Engagement welcomes civil rights activist Sylvia Mendez as keynote in the October DICE Master Class speaker series.

In honor of Hispanic Heritage Month, Sylvia Mendez will facilitate a master class that highlights her pivotal experience at the young age of nine, as an instrumental part of the landmark Mendez v. Westminster School District (1947) lawsuit that paved the way for Brown v. Board of Education (1954) and ended school segregation in California.
